Truckers strike breaking up

The truckers strike broke— at least momentarily— this morning at Cross Truck Stop south of Charleston. Three trucks (top photo) of the Roadway trucking company of Memphis, Tenn. led other trucks away from the fuel stop where they had been blockaded since 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Other trucks in the foreground remained parked on the lot. One of the drivers, Clyde McGee of Memphis, checks his tires (right photo) before starting out, while another driver watches impatiently after the four- day forced wait. Rhodes City Truck Plaza, on Nash Road near Cape Girardeau (top left photo), remained choked with heavy trucks late Tuesday although injunctions from Atty. Gen. John Danforth's office forced the trucks away from the diesel pumps. The open pumps may not mean much due to low fuel levels before the strike shut them down.

End to controls sought by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration told Congress today it intends to remove all mandatory wage and price controls after April 30 — except for the health and petroleum sections of the economy.

If Congress agrees, it would mean the bulk of the U.S. economy would be functioning control free for the first time since August of 1971.

Authority for present Phase 4 controls expires April 30.

Cost of Living Council Director John T. Dunlop, who outlined the administration plans, said consumers could expect some additional increase in prices as a result of lifting of controls.

He said this would result from realignment of some prices that have been held down; the removal of built-in delays on price increases by big companies, and testing of the market by some companies to see how high they can raise prices.

Dunlop implied present controls had outlived their usefulness despite the prospect of continuing inflation.

"Under the economic conditions anticipated in the year ahead," he told the Senate Banking Committee's subcommittee on production and stabilization, "the problems created by a full program of mandatory wage and price controls outweigh the contributions such controls can make to price stability."

Dunlop said the council planned to continue its gradual decontrol of the economy before April 30 and would continue seeking commitments for price restraints and other inflation-reducing actions from industries in exchange for decontrol during this period.

The administration also proposed turning the Cost of Living Council into an umbrella economic agency to watch over inflation and to coordinate economic activities of federal and local government agencies.

Such an agency has been Dunlop's pet project.

Dunlop indicated the administration would relucantly seek to continue controls in other areas as well if the need arises between now and April 30.

Legislature debates state help for private schools

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Debate over state aid to parochial schools and testimony supporting a shield law for newsmen highlighted committee action in the Missouri Legislature Tuesday night.

No action was taken on the two issues, but other bills were approved by committees concerning a hike in the state's minimum wage, Missouri's two state colleges and increased veterans benefits.

In the Senate, the controversial issue of state aid to private (mainly church supported) schools was opened again.

Advocates of a bill to provide state aid for busing parochial and private students to classes told the Senate Education Committee it is unfair for parents who choose private education to have to bear the expense of busing their children to school.

Not so, said opponents. The parents freely choose to send their children to parochial schools and they should be responsible for the resulting financial burdens.

Hugh Wamble, president of the Missouri Baptist Convention, said the state constitution prohibits state aid to parochial schools. He said the bill would use state funds for support of religion and would thus be in violation of the constitution.

An advocate of state aid, Francis Hulshof, of Portageville, representing the Citizens for Educational Freedom, said he sent six children through parochial schools and estimated he has saved taxpayers $50,000 over the years of their attendance at private schools.

"We're all taxpayers," Hulshof said, and because a parent sends his child to a private school, thus saving the state money, the parent should not be denied aid to have his children transported to school.

In House action, several Missouri newsmen testified in favor of a proposed "free flow of information" shield law that would protect the confidentiality of reporters sources.

More strike violence reported

The highway patrol received a report of violence related to the truckers' strike Tuesday night. However, tension at truck stops appears to have eased as protesting independent drivers resign themselves to a court injunction that Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth maintains has statewide application.

Tommy Monroe Smith of Camden, Tenn., a truck driver for Breckinridge Lumber Co. of Camden, reported to authorities a car pulled alongside his truck on Interstate 57 near Charleston at 11:09 p.m., shined a spotlight into the cab and fired two shots. One of the shots went through the windshield, but Smith was not injured.

To prevent more acts of violence, a highway patrol escort was provided for a convoy of 15 Malone & Hyde Co. trucks which left Sikeston this morning for Kentucky.

T. V. Cross, owner of Cross Truck Stop Inc., on Highway 105 at the Interstate 57 interchange near Charleston said today that his gas pumps are no longer blocked, but he is not pumping diesel fuel. Cross said he has sympathy for the truckers and believes they have a legitimate gripe.

10 children remain hospitalized

Bernice Pettis, 14, of Sikeston remained in fair condition today at Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where she was admitted with abdominal injuries Tuesday morning following the collision of two Bell City school buses.

She is apparently the most seriously injured of the 35 children treated at the hospital following the accident. Ten children were admitted to the hospital and today are listed in satisfactory condition.

Besides Miss Pettis, hospitalized students include: Calvin Johnson, 16, of Bell City, who received a fracture of the spine; Richard Mitchem, 8, of Sikeston, cuts on the face, fractured jaw and possible concussion; Juanita Poyner, 7, of Sikeston, fractured nose and possible concussion; and Bell City residents Jamie Harris, 4, bruises on left eye and nose; Bruce Robinson, 14, back injury; Gary Walker, 14, injury to the skull and cuts on the left hand; Richard Walker, 5, bruises on left thigh; Michael Griffin, 12, fractured jaw; and Michale Meekie, 8, cuts on nose, multiple bruises and fractures of the facial bones.

The accident occurred about 8:35 a.m. Tuesday when the two buses collided at the unmarked intersection of Routes Y and DD eight miles southeast of Bell City. One of the buses overturned in a field; the other came to rest in a ditch.

Administrator Harold Jones said the hospital set up its disaster procedure and handled the incident as a local disaster.

Besides the emergency room, the physical therapy room and the first aid classroom was used as a first aid station. Children were examined and sent to one of the rooms for treatment.

Jones said he was pleased with the way hospital personnel handled the emergency.

Red Cross to aid SS search

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid County chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that volunteers throughout the county will assist in locating persons who might be eligible to receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments, according to Mrs. Howard Crisler of New Madrid.

Supplemental Security Income payments will be made to persons 65 years or older who have little income. Blind or disabled persons under 65 also will be able to get SSI if they need help.

The SST payments take the place of the basic cash payments previously made by state and local public assistance offices to the aged, blind and disabled and began in January. The state will continue to provide other services and may add to the federal payments under certain circumstances.

Persons who believe they are eligible and are not now receiving Supplemental Security Income payments, or need assistance to determine if they qualify, may contact one of the following volunteers who will be able to provide additional information:

Tinnin is recovering from sudden illness

JEFFERSON CITY— State Sen. Nelson B. Tinninn of Hornersville, who represents the 25th District in Southeast Missouri, was reported resting comfortably today in a Jefferson City hospital where he was taken Monday after being stricken by a sudden illness while attending a Senate session.

A spokesman at Tinnin's office said the Bootheel Democrat was taken to the hospital about 6 p.m. Monday from the Senate floor.

Tinnin is apparently suffering from a circulatory problem, the spokesman said.

He stayed in an intensive care ward Monday night but moved to another room Tuesday.

Tinnin hopes to be released in a few days, according to the spokesman who said Tinnin had been unusually busy recently as a result of long hearings held by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Hearing set in Holland slaying

A preliminary hearing on a first - degree murder charge against Mrs. George Holland, 40, of 1409 Henry St. was set on Feb. 19 by Judge Lloyd Briggs during Magistrate Court proceedings Tuesday in the Sikeston City Courtroom.

The charge was filed against Mrs. Holland in connection with the Jan. 27 shotgun slaying of her husband, George Holland, 43.

Mrs. Holland allegedly shot her husband while he sat at the kitchen table in their home. Police said Holland, a machine shop instructor at Sikeston High School, was shot at close range with a 12-gauge shotgun. They said the pellets entered the back just below the left shoulder blade.

Sentencing was deferred for Lonnie K. Jones of Bernie and William Charles Meurer of Cape Girardeau after both pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Both men were placed on supervised probation for one year under supervision of the Department of Probation and Parole.

Robert Williams of Sikeston was bound over to Circuit Court after he waived a preliminary hearing on a Jan. 17 charge of breaking into Hosea Cantrell home and stealing personal property.

After waiving a preliminary hearing, Renell Watson was bound over to appear in Circuit Court on Feb. 14 on a charge of forging a $22 check to Lindsey's M & H supermarket on Dec. 12 by signing the name of Frank Ferrell.

A preliminary hearing for Norman Lee Campbell of Sikeston was set for Feb. 19 on a charge of attempting to steal personal property from Quick-Chek Market.

Preliminary hearings for Bernard Elmer Shepard of Sikeston was set on Feb. 5 after he pleaded not guilty to a Dec. 24 charge of writing a $12.75 bogus check to King Arthur's Lounge by signing the name of Bill Weaverly.

Bloomfield schools hit by influenza attacks

BLOOMFIELD-- The Bloomfield R- 14 School District has been hit by a siege of influenza during the past week.

One hundred and fifty-seven students were absent Tuesday and 154 were out of school today with the illness.

Elementary principal Robert Forister said today that he expects the figure to increase during the day, as many students are being sent home during school hours.

Basketball games, scheduled Tuesday night between Bloomfield and Advance high schools, were postponed due to the large number of student absentees, according to Bloomfield High School principal Clyde Dixon.

Furnace seldom used

A grate idea-fireplace heats house

CLINTON, Conn. — In the basement of Emil Dahlquist's home there is an oil-fired furnace that he seldom needs to operate even in this frigid New England season. In the kitchen an electric stove stands virtually unused all year long.

An otherwise humble but ingenious fire grate, which turns a standard living room fireplace into a remarkably efficient producer of heat, does its job. It is a welcome fuel saver at this energy- short time.

In fact, with the exception of the early hours of some of the colder winter mornings when the furnace comes occasionally into play, this lone fireplace heats the entire eight- room Dahliquest house. It also cooks all the Dahlquist meals with the aid of a hearth stove and other pieces of heat-reflecting equipment.

The result: great tasting meals "such as only a wood fire can produce" and a saving on fuel bills.

Heat radiates

The secret lies with the grate itself. Slanted steeply in front, it allows for a buildup of hot ash below. This, says Mr. Dahliquist, provides a "pocket of intense heat" which radiates out horizontally into the room. Conventional grates tend to smother that heat source, he contends.

It all began a couple of years ago when the Dahlquists needed to buy a new grate. This inspired Mr. Dahlquist to define what it was he really wanted from a fireplace — a beautiful glow and a comfortable feeling of warmth.

So he began experimenting on how to raise the grate so that the glowing ashes could be best exposed. After some initial trials he took a conventional grate and propped it up in front with bricks. As the ashes fell, "Heat such as the old fireplace had never seen before poured out into the room." This was it. Soon he had designed a free-standing somewhat lopsided V-shaped grate for which patents currently are pending.

Equipment for cooking

All this "extra heat" soon had Mr. Dahlquist wondering for what else it was useful beyond warming the house. Cooking was the obvious answer. A design based on the hearth stove of Colonial days made an excellent cooker; another gadget which employs an angled sheet of metal to reflect the heat upward became a "hot plate." A rotisserie, turned by electricity, completed the equipment picture.

When I visited the Dahlquists one raw November afternoon. a hastily inserted bread pudding soon began to bake in the oven while a pot of soup gently simmered on the "hot plate." To boil, the hot plate, some three feet back and somewhat to the side of the fire, had only to be placed closer to the fire. But "simmered soup" tastes best, says Mrs. Dahlquist.

A week previously the Dahlquists had 12 guests in to dinner On the menu: An 8½ - pound duck, two dishes of lasagna, two loaves of bread, and two apple pies. The whole meal was cooked in just two hours — with the assembled guests looking on.

Outdoors in summer

In summer, Mrs. Dahlquist cooks outdoors using the same grate and the same cooking equipment. "It's light and easily carried," she says.

How much fuel is saved by this approach? Mr. Dahlquist is cautious in his comments. "No two houses are exactly the same," he points out. "Some are well insulated, others are not. Some have large windows, others small windows, and so on. You just cannot guarantee what will be saved."

However, he reckons that for every $70 he spends on wood he saves $100 on oil. Then there is the saving on electric power through the virtual non-use of the stove.

During winter the Dahlquists burn about one cord of wood every two months. At local prices (wood can cost much more) that works out at $15 a month — for most of the heat and all of the cooking.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Of course it is your duty to love those around you all the better for their faults, but do you?

Needless to say, we're disappointed.

Sunday night we prepared an editorial commenting on the growing truck strike and had planned to praise Southeast Missouri truckers for not resorting to violence.

Violence had been reported in several other states, including the death of at least one driver. Another driver lost the use of one eye and a woman driver was dragged from her truck by men and beaten. Other truckers were shot at or hit by various objects thrown from overpasses or other vantage points.

However, until the past weekend, Southeast Missouri drivers had handled their stoppage without any reports of violence.

This changed over the weekend. Although there were no reports of bodily injury, there were isolated reports of assaults upon trucks — at least one was shot at.

We agree that truckers have a legitimate complaint over high fuel prices. But we can't agree with their violent methods of trying to make their point. We also realize that in spite of the fact that many parts of the nation's economy suffer when trucks don't roll on schedule, the trucker has a legal right to park his rig and refuse to roll until he gets a fair price for his service.

But, we suggest that those truckers who deplore violence and respect lawful means of settling differences band themselves together to weed out the violence mongers before they kill public sentiment for their cause.

An angry man often does and says things he later regrets. Let's face the issue squarely and settle it peacefully with reason.

ACCELERATING INFLATION

Disturbing economic predictions abound these days.

One of the latest comes from New York economist Henry Kaufman, a monetary analyst for the firm of Salomon Brothers.

According to Mr. Kaufman's computations, the U. S. fiscal 1974 budget deficit will be on the order of $17 to $22 billion, rather than the $10 billion or less suggested by Nixon administration officials. Kaufman warned that this was only one factor in an economic "disarray" unparalled in the last 30 years. The dominating factor in the economy is the overwhelming nature of inflation which could, according to Kaufman, result in "a financial panic" unless "harsh governmental action" is taken.

But the economist is not optimistic that such action as higher taxes and "prudent" expenditure control will be taken, because "we as a people" may not be willing to accept such measures. So, he says, "inflation may lead us to a third path — a protracted period in which there are disappointing results and disillusionment." Kaufman suggests that there is no parallel for an experience in which inflation accelerates at a time when economic activity is sluggish. He warns that inflation will hardly abate when economic activity picks up.

Anyone who has followed the commodity markets recently might tend to conclude that the "financial panic" is already here. Unprecedented prices are being paid for such diversified commodities as metals, sugar, potatoes, and most grains and oils. Throughout the world there is a flight from paper money into almost anything of tangible value. People have lost confidence in the value of money.

Confidence is thus the keyword to any resolution of the inflationary psychology which now grips the country and the western world. The burden rests squarely on the money managers to show us why Mr. Kaufman and others of like opinion are wrong.

A TAX SHELTER FOR JOHN Q.

There are a good many private foundations around — too many, in fact. Some are designed to help poor people stop being poor; most are designed to help rich people keep being rich.

But now comes a new foundation designed for the use of the Average American Citizen (AAC), the great silent majority, the people who pay the taxes, you and me. It is designed to help us keep a little of what makes us average in the first place, our adequate but altogether modest incomes.

It is called the Roscoe G. Simpson Institute for the study of the Average American Citizen and it comes to our attention, as so many good things do, via a press release.

The idea of the institute is deceptively simple (or simply deceptive, as the case may be). It will solicit the charitable contribution of private citizens' personal papers to be catalogued, cross- referenced and compiled into a library for use by educators, social scientists and others whose work required knowledge of the AAC.

The kicker is this: If the institute gets the tax- exempt status it is seeking as a nonprofit foundation, the donations of papers will be tax deductible!

No longer will Mr. AAC have to sit by while movie stars, vice- presidents, composers and writers get big tax write-offs for their memorabilia. Now he can get in on the hustle, too.

"We hope to be able to gather as wide a variety of papers as possible," says the organization's executive director, Jan Parkinson. "Bills, letters, advertising circulars, Christmas cards. magazines or whatever. We're interested in obtaining anything that's a part of the AAC's daily life."

This is not to say that the Simpson Institute is going to be entirely nonselective in its acceptance of gifts.

"This is not another tax shelter for the rich," Parkinson says. "For example, if we received a carte blanche statement, Mr. Nixon's Christmas card and a copy of the "Intellectual Digest' from Citizen X, we could only offer a small tax credit. He's just not that typical.

"However, Citizen Y's collection of Sears bills, Christmas Cards from 'Bill and Trudy' in San Diego (whom he can't remember ever knowing) and circulars addressed to 'occupant' could be worth several thousand dollars because those things are so much a part of an AAC's life."

Isn't that great?

If this idea gets off the ground, no longer will you be moved to clutch your throat and stagger around the living room when you get your car back from the garage after a tuneup, along with a bill for $84. The bill itself will be worth more than that — as a cultural artifact.

And imagine the worth of a complete set of cash register receipts from a supermarket over a five - or 10 - year period. It might be worth thousands as a chronicle of the impact of inflation on the AAC. They'd have to be in mint condition, of course.

Mr. Parkinson reports that the institute is still fleshing out its staff.

"We're interested in people of all disciplines to pursue in great depth what we perceive as the unique interrelationship of socio- engineering factors in the life forces common to the Average American Citizen," he says. "We're especially interested in names that will look good on our letterhead."

Presumably names like John Doe and Jane Smith.

Can an institute with a leader like that fail? Hardly.

There are those, of course, who will question the seriousness of the intent of the institute. They will say that the organization, although not a tax shelter for the rich, is nothing more than a tax shelter for the middle class — or worse, a joke.

To those cynics, one need only refer to the name of the institute. As Mr. Parkinson puts it:

"Roscoe G. Simpson, the turn of the century humanitarian for whom the organization is named, is perhaps best remembered for his statement — "It's better to be rich and healthy, then poor and sick."'

Could an organization dedicated to the memory of a man like that be a joke? Nonsense.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS TEACH MILLIONS AT HOME

This year many Americans will obtain their education through private correspondence courses.

Drawn from all segments of the population, most home study students share one common desire: to improve themselves and obtain a better job through correspondence education, according to the National Home Study Council.

Private correspondence schools operate as independent enterprises and without public funds or endowments. The schools also pay all the normal business taxes, while serving more than a million - and - a - half students without cost to taxpayers.

Among the students are many college graduates continuing their education through correspondence courses. Others hope to increase their earning power, start new careers, complete an education, keep abreast of new technology, or simply to pursue a hobby.

The courses they are taking range from art and accounting to welding and writing. By studying through correspondence schools, students do not have to give up their present jobs, leave home or lose income. Adults do not have to compete with youngsters fresh from school. Many are said to choose home study because the course they wish to pursue is not available at their location.

"If you're planning to take a correspondence course, investigate the school before you enroll," advises William Fowler, executive director of the National Home Study Council. The Council of Better Business Bureaus publishes a consumer information booklet: "Tips on Home Study Schools."

Another source of information is the 1973 Director of Accredited Private Home Study Schools which can be obtained free from the Council, 1601 — 18th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20009.

CARING FOR PEOPLE

Health care programs designed mainly to appeal to masses of voters make a political game of the nation's health. The medical profession opposes such programs. At the same time, it works tirelessly toward meshing our pluralistic medical and health care systems with existing and proposed government programs to strengthen the principles of voluntarism, free choice and the high quality care to which doctors are dedicated.

It has been said that high quality health care is a right. Medical men accept this principle and apply it in a thousand ways that the public never sees. One of the best examples is a survey now being conducted by the American Medical Association in cooperation with the American Bar Association's Commission on Correctional Facilities and Services and law enforcement groups to determine methods of improving medical facilities in jails and prisons in the United States. A recent study by the U. S. Deparrtmen of Justice indicated that medical facilities exist in only half of the nation's more than 4,000 local jails. The AMA survey will seek to determine the level of medical services, where they exist and solicit recommendations for improvement. In a letter to prison wardens accompanying a questionnaire, the AMA said, "Our aim is to define sound criteria for medical services ... and encourage state, county or local medical societies to take leadership in implementing remedial programs which could be of incalculable value to the tide of correctional and prison reform now running across the nation."

Here is a perfect illustration that shows how genuine improvement in health care for the individual transcends political considerations and is beyond the reach of massive, government health care programs aimed at millions of voters rather than at the personal needs of an ill person.

THE NEW BUMPERS SOMEWHAT LACKING

Those give- and - take bumpers required by federal standards beginning with 1973 cars are resisting damage, but not to the extent hoped for.

That is the conclusion of a study — the first to monitor the effects of safety and damageability standards on accident costs — submitted to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The study by State Farm Mutural Automobile Insurance Co., the nation's largest car insurer, was based on a three-month compilation and comparison of some 1,600 claims involving groups of 1973 and 1972 models. It found that the '73s were less frequently damaged in front and rear collisions, but there was very little reduction in the average repair costs of these collisions.

Principal findings of the study:

— Compared to 1972 models, 1973 models had fewer cases of front and rear damage.

— Replacement frequencies of certain major components, including front and rear face bars and grilles, were significantly lower for the 1973 models.

— Nevertheless, average repair costs were about the same for the two years: $290 for 1973 models vs. $295 for '72s.

One reason claims costs have not decreased is the more complex and costly design of bumper systems to meet federal standards. Prices for virtually all 1973 bumper replacement components increased over 1972 prices — in one case from $138.10 to $306.65 for a complete front bumper.

According to Dr. Wayne W. Sorenson, head of State Farm's research department, a new and more demanding bumper standard being considered by the Department of Transportation promises more savings, as well as safety, to the American motorist.

This proposed standard would prevent damage to any part of the car in low- speed crashes. The present standard applies only to safety - related parts, such as lights, brakes and other systems nedessary for safe operation of the vehicle.

RESEARCH BRINGS ANSWERS

There is evidence that perhaps up to 70 per cent of the nonwhite population in the United States may have an intolerance for lactose, or milk sugar. They may suffer discomfort because of their limited ability to digest milk sugar. The difficulty is that much of the research which has turned up this intolerance, involved testing people by feeding them large amounts of lactose in one sitting -- amounts that far exceeded the lactose contained in recommended amounts of milk required for good nutrition. From this situation have come suggestions that perhaps milk should be eliminated from school lunch, food stamp and other food distribution programs affecting broad segments of the population, including nonwhites.

This is a classic case of jumping to conclusions on the basis of limited evidence. How the human body uses the chemicals and nutrients in food is a tremendously complex matter. Initiating sharp dietary changes for broad segments of the population can almost be guaranteed to produce grave errors. A new research study sponsored by the dairy industry, and being undertaken independently at Brown University, is designed to evaluate the incidence of lactose intolerance and determine its meaning in relation to possible dietary changes. It may well prove that all segments of the population would benefit from consumption of recommended amounts of milk due to a common need for the protein, calcium and other necessary nutrients which it contains.

As in any other scientific endeavor, careful research, not snap judgments, will bring the answers required to improve the state of human nutrition.

FARMERS IN DIXIE ADOPT BEEF CATTLE AS NEW FARM CROP

There's something new in Dixie, Lush Bermuda grass pastures are spreading throughout the South and it is being eaten by beef cows and calves.

Today, ten southern states rank cattle production among their top two agricultural industries, with beef calves the top far- income maker in six states and second in four more.

Bill Culp, a New Holland equipment dealer in Bossier City, La., can see a general improvement in farming in the South since cattle ranching was introduced a few years ago. This optimistic viewpoint is shared by many of his customers, including Jess Loyd, banker and rancher.

Mr. Loyd is vice president of the First National Bank of Shreveport. He says that he knows how the cattle business is growing in Louisiana because his bank is financing much of the expansion on local ranches.

"We are in this thing to make a legitimate profit," Mr. Loyd said. "We're not looking for a tax write-off." Calves, he said, are now the principal farm product in Louisiana, outdistancing cotton and rice in recent years.

A sailor, after placing some flowers on a grave in the cemetery, noticed an old Chinaman placing a bowl of rice on a grave nearby.

"When do you expect your friend to come up and eat the rice?" he asked.

The Chinaman smiled and said: "Same time your friends comes up to smell your flowers."

SAVING WHAT?

The first casualty list is in. Eight children are dead in one state alone. The killer is not war, not a tornado or earthquake. The culprit is a bureaucratic monster called Daylight Saving Time, and more innocent victims are certain to be added to the rolls before the blunder can be corrected.

The logic, if any, behind the panic adoption of nationwide daylight saving time escaped many citizens at the time it was rushed through Congress, supposedly as a saver of energy. How, a few citizens asked, is it going to save energy to arise earlier in the coldest hours before dawn? Surely that would require more heat, not less.

The worst fears of the few voices raised in caution are now being realized. Not only is little or no energy being saved, school youngsters all across the land are being maimed and killed as they grope through the dark and the rain and the sleet to bus stops or schools. If we are saving neither lives nor energy, what we are saving is a good question.

We should long ago have learned that what is appropriate for one region of our great country may do no good or actually do great harm to another section. Panic is never a good legislator and the bureaucratic mania to "do something" even if it is wrong obviously intimidated otherwise thoughtful Senators and Congressmen into hasty, ill- conceived action. The citizenry can cause this situation to be corrected, since the bureaucracy cannot easily circumvent a direct requirement to repeal compulsory daylight saving time. At the present time, our mornings are dark, but united, we can cause them to once again be bright. HLH

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Ervin Panel's Version Of Hughes- Nixon Connection

WASHINGTON-- Senate investigators have written, strictly for the eyes of the Watergate senators, a fascinating scenario of the Hughes- Nixon connection.

The strange saga, according to the investigators' account, reached its climax in 1970.

Early in the year, Attorney General John Mitchell brushed aside the objections of his underlings and cleared the legal obstacles for billionaire Howard Hughes to purchase the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas.

Later the same year, Hughes aide Richard Danner delivered $100,000 in two separate $50,000 bundles to President Nixon's seaside estate at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla. The cash was accepted by the President's closest friend, Bebe Rebozo.

A former Hughes aide, Robert Maheu, has testified that the second $50,000 payment was connected with Hughes' attempt to acquire the casino- hotel. This has been disputed by the other participants in the backdoor transaction.

The Senate scenarios gives this chronology:

JANUARY, 1970: Danner was dispatched to Washington to confer with Attorney General Mitchell about the Dunes acquisition. Previously, the Justice Department had refused to let Hughes buy the Stardust Hotel, because the billionaire's casino- hotel empire was too big. But Danner made a strong pitch for the Dunes.

FEBRUARY 26: Danner flew to Washington for another meeting with the attorney general. "Mitchell told Danner he would let the boys look it over," related the investigators.

EARLY MARCH: Mitchell called his antitrust chief, Richard McLaren, to advise him that Nevada's Gov. Paul Laxalt wanted the Justice Department to let Hughes purchase the Dunes. Mitchell quoted the governor as saying "that the Dunes was hoodlum owned and if Hughes could buy it, he could clean it up." Laxalt told investigators that he had never spoken to Mitchell about the Dunes, that the hotel was not run by the Mafia and that he would have opposed its acquisition by Hughes.

MARCH 6: McLaren relayed Mitchell's message to the Justice Department attorney who had been handling the Hughes cases. The attorney reminded McLaren of the Stardust turndown. He added that the "job of controlling crime should be handled by the Nevada authorities not by making exceptions to the antitrust policies." He put his objections in writing in a March 6, 1970, memorandum.

MARCH 12: McLaren reported back to Mitchell that "the Dunes purchase would clearly violate the merger guidelines and would make the Department look bad because of its prior position on the Stardust. He also suggested Nevada could act on its own against criminal figures running casinos by instituting license revoking proceedings."

MARCH 19: Danner dropped by Mitchell's office again. The attorney general, disregarding the warning of his subordinates, said "he could see no problem" that would prevent Hughes from buying the Dunes. The acquisition, said Mitchell, "met the guidelines." Danner immediately "communicated with Maheu and advised him that they had permission to purchase the Dunes Hotel."

MARCH 20: Danner and Maheu flew to Key Biscayne. Sometime during the next two days, Danner met with Rebozo. But Danner denied to the investigators that the Dunes was discussed.

MARCH 21: Mitchell also flew to Key Biscayne, although the timing may have been a coincidence.

MARCH 26: McLaren saw an FBI memo reporting that Danner had claimed he had received permission from the antitrust division to purchase the Dunes. Indignant, McLaren wrote a two- page memo to Mitchell "reviewing their earlier conversations." McLaren noted in his memo his hope that Danner's boast "was an erroneous impression."

The investigators' document reported to the seven Watergate senators: "We have interviewed all of the Antitrust Division personnel, who should have reviewed the Dunes acquisition, and none of them have any recollection of seeing or hearing about the case. . . .

"The deal finally fell through," they added, "because the Dunes owners had furnished misleading information on profit and loss figures to the Hughes people."

Meanwhile, "Danner was reminded a number of times by Rebozo," according to the Senate scenario, "that the Hughes Tool Company had not made adequate contributions to the President's campaign.

Maheu "contacted Mr. Hughes and was authorized to furnish $100,000 to President Nixon. Mr. Maheu contends that at least one payment was made in 1969, and Mr. Danner and Mr. Rebozo first indicated that a payment was made in 1969 and 1970. The latter two now insist that both payments were made in 1970. . . .

"Mr. Rebozo has testified that he retained the funds in his safe deposit box at the Key Biscayne Bank and Trust Company," continued the investigators' account. "Mr. Rebozo stated that he removed the wrappers from around the money because the name Las Vegas appeared on the wrappers. . . ."

Three years later, after the $100,000 cash gift had hit the headlines, Rebozo tried to persuade Danner to take the money back. When Danner refused, Rebozo finally arranged to turn it over to Hughes' attorney.

FOOTNOTE: The former attorney general, through a spokesman, denied he had evern given Danner the go-ahead on the Dunes purchase nor, Mitchell said, did any talk of campaign contributions figure in his conversations with

Director says only 40 per cent chance of rationing

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — There is only a 40 per cent chance that gasoline rationing will be imposed this year across the nation, says the regional director of the Federal Energy Office.

James Newman of Kansas City, speaking Tuesday to the chamber of commerce executives of Missouri, also said a rollback in propane gas prices is imminent.

Although propane amounts to only 3 per cent of a barrel of crude oil, Newman said, propane prices have risen 300 per cent.

He predicted the federal government will remove the request that gasoline stations stay closed on Sundays. This will occur, he said, because independent truckers are facing difficulty in purchasing fuel on Sunday and the vacation season soon will be starting.

Diesel fuel prices are too high, Newman said, because truckers are not allowed to pass on increases in fuel costs to customers.

The Federal Energy Office in Kansas City is working to roll back diesel prices at truck stops which exceed federal price guidelines, Newman said.

The Department of Agriculture says not a single major food or fiber plant now grown in the United States originated on the North American continent. The only important crop plants indigenous to the United States are the sunflower, blueberry, cranberry and pecan.

Ball-Point Pens

Impetus for U.S. acceptance of the ball-point pen was a request during World War II by the Army quartermaster general for a writing instrument that would not leak in high altitudes, would use a quick-drying ink unaffected by climatic changes and contain a supply of ink that would last a considerable time, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Ann Landers

Fat psychiatrist is of no help to overweight person wanting help

Dear Ann Landers: You frequently advise people who are drastically overweight to try Weight Watchers or Tops. If they fail there, you tell them they are stuffing themselfes as compensation for other pleasures they are not getting. Then you say, "Seek professional help."

Well, I took your advice and sought professional help. The psychiatrist spent five sessions telling me why I overate. (I already knew why and I didn't relish spending that kind of money to hear it from him.) Then I met his wife. She weighed more than I did. I never went back.

The second psychiatrist was recommended by my obstetrician. When I met him I couldn't believe my eyes. He was about 5' 5" and weighed at least 300 lbs. He had the fattest hands I ever saw and ate jelly beans all through the session. I didn't even want to discuss weight with him. I said I was a lesbian and would call him for another appointment if I decided to continue. Of course I never did.

How can a psychiatrist expect his patients to have faith in him when he can't help his own wife -- or himself? --Teed Off.

Dear Teed: Don't try to evaluate the competence of a psychiatrist by sizing up his wife (or his children) or even the man himself. The only thing that matters is how YOU get along with him. Of course, if you are turned off at the outset your chances of establishing a good relationship are poor, no matter what the reason. So, my advice to you is to look up a skinny therapist with an emaciated wife and good luck to you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a divorced woman with two children. I've been dating Stan for six months. He seems to have all the qualities I am looking for in a second husband. Although we've discussed marriage, no commitments have been made on either side.

Last week Stan said he couldn't take me to a party because he had to take his ex-wife to dinner. It was their "anniversary." This has been a tradition, he explained, since their divorce five years ago. I asked if he intended to honor that after he remarried and he said, "Of course. She is the mother of my children."

What do you think about this? —— Confused

Dear C.: I think you'd better forget that bird. One of the qualities a woman should be looking for in a husband who has been divorced, is that he have no emotional ties to his former wife. An agreement to be together on their child's birthday or graduation or wedding would be another story , but a dinner to celebrate the anniversary of a marriage that didn't make it??? No way, honey.

Dear Ann Landers: If you print this letter maybe some inconsiderate, selfish idiot will see the light.

When you accidentally run over a cat or a dog, please have the decency to stop and see if there is a chance the animal can be rushed to a veterinarian and saved. If it's too late for a vet, check with the neighbors on that street and find out whose pet it was so you can inform the people.

If you come upon a dead pet in the street or road, please stop and remove it before the children see it. That twisted, mangled form of the little pet they loved so much could cause nighmares for years. Thank you. ——One Who Cares

Bulldog JV record 11th

PERRYVILLE — The Perryville Pirates surprised the Sikeston Bulldogs 73-51 here Tuesday night and dropped the SHS overall record to 5-11. The loss was the third in a row for Sikeston. Earlier Sikeston had assured itself of a split of the night's action by claiming a 47-27 B-game verdict. The B-team ran its record to 11-1 with the win.

The second and third periods were fatal for the Bulldogs in the varsity contest. Perryville used cold shooting and many turnovers by the visitors to outscore them 43-14 in those frames and insure their 13th win in 20 starts.

The first quarter featured a bad start for Sikeston. Their shooting was way off (4 of 21 floor shots), but by dominating the boards the Dogs were able to remain tied with Perryville at eight-all by the period's end. At times the Bulldogs seemed to be about to jump to an early advantage, taking as many as six shots at the goal, but they were repeatedly unable to find the mark.

After Sikeston had claimed a 19-7 rebounding edge in the first frame, the Buccos turned the tables on them in the second, grabbing 11, to just three for Sikeston. This edge, with the continued poor Bulldog shooting, enabled PHS to outscore the visitors 23-6 and have a comfortable 31-14 halftime bulge.

As in the Dexter game, the Sikeston shooters warmed up in the second half. After hitting just 23 percent of their tries in the first half, they hit exactly 50 percent, 16 of 32, in the second. However, the increased offense wasn't enough to make up for a lax defense, repeated fouls, and numerous turnovers that Sikeston committed.

The Bulldog guns were still silent in the third period. No shots seemed to drop for the snake- bitten team, and they fell even further behind as Perryville outscored them by a dozen, 20-8.

Trailing 51-22 entering the last quarter, the Bulldogs seemed to realize they were about to lose to Perryville for the first time in ten years, but by then the belated rush was way too little, way too late. Sikeston players began to work the ball better and were more successful running the fastbreak, as they totaled 29 points in the frame - seven more than they scored in the first three periods. However, while Sikeston was marking an impressive point total, Perryville was topping 20 points for the third straight frame, scoring 22 for the 73-51 win.

Sikeston's conference record now stands at 1-4, with the next conference encounter this Friday night at home against Poplar Bluff.

Looking at the statistics, its hard to fathom the 22-point Perryville victory. The Dogs outrebounded the Pirates by ten, 42-32, and the winners hit only 39 percent of their shots (28 of 72). The Bulldogs connected on a comparable 36.5 percent (23 of 63), but Perryville was good on 17 of 30 free throws, while Sikeston hit five of six. There were just four and a half minutes left in the game, when the Bulldogs shot their first charity toss. Also, Sikeston was guilty of 25 fouls, compared to their hosts' ten. And Perryville made just eight turnovers, compared to 18 by the losers.

Perryville placed four men in double figures, Roger Brewer leading the way with 19. Six- foot- 5 Ronny Koenig followed with 18 points and 15 rebounds and Darrell Niswonger used a hot second half to score 17. Rob Cissell, floor general for coach Bill Gatlin's team, was the fourth Pirates in double figures with ten.

Only two Bulldogs scored in twin figures. They were Roger Tillman with 14 and Ronald Marks with 12. Tillman also led Sikeston rebounders with a dozen, but committed seven critical turnovers from his post position.

In the first game, the Sikeston jayvees ran their league mark to 5-0 in conference with a sloppy, but gratefully accepted 47-27 win.

The junior Bulldogs had their troubles winning the first game, despite the fact that they led by 11 points after the first quarter and were never headed. Coach Buddy Spears' troops, playing without promoted Mark Eaves and Bruce Lawrence for the second game in a row, were unable to ever put a consistent offense together.

However, the defense proved to be tough for the Bulldogs at times and Perryville co- operated on many occasions with their poorshooting and errant floor play.

After leading 15-4 after one period, the visitors were able to expand it to 13 by half at 22-9. Then Perryville outscored Sikeston 12-8 to trail just by nine, 30-21, entering the last frame. From there it was all Bulldogs, as they outscored Perryville 17-6 to claim the 20- point win.

The Sikeston B-team hosts its own invitational tournament, starting at the fieldhouse tonight with two games. Cape Central plays Poplar Bluff at 6:30, then Sikeston faces Charleston at 8:00.

EPHS wins shootout

EAST PRAIRIE — Coach Steve Doran's EPHS Eagles won a shootout with the Matthews Pirates here Tuesday night 90-86.

The game was played at a fast pace from the tipoff with both teams pressing on defense.

Matthews used their man to man defense to try to shut off the Eagles but after the first period of play the Pirates held only a slim 21-20 lead.

The Pireates held a five point advangage throughout most of the second period and built the lead to nine with two minutes left to play before the half but the Eagles' defense took the ball away and Steve Husk stole an inbound pass and laid the ball in at the buzzer to pull the Eagles within one point of the lead at 47-46.

Matthews couldn't stop Leroy Bradley and Steve Husk in the second half as the two team for 56 of the 90 points in the game.

The Eagles came out running in the second half and outscored the Pirates 24-18 in the third period. East Prairie held onto their lead through the fourth period for the win. East Prairie is 9-11 for the year.

Matthews was without the services of Dwight Latham and Ricky Parker, who were sick. David Kenedy was high for the Pirates with 22 points.

Matthews won the B game 76-67 as Sexton hit 12 points. Danny Johnson scored 22 for the Eagles.

Applications are being taken for TRCC nursing program

POPLAR BLUFF-- A deadline of Feb. 15 has been announced for applications for admission to the fourth freshman class in the associate degree nursing program at Three Rivers Community College.

The new class, which will begin study next summer, will be limited again to 20 members, Paul H. Hillis, dean of occupational education said.

Applications are to be accompanied by a $10 nonrefundable deposit to cover the cost of testing and processing involved in the selection of those who will be admitted to the class.

Applicants must be at least 18 years old, must have ranked in the upper half of their high school graduating class or score above the 33 percentile in the School and College Ability Test.

Those in doubt as to their qualifications should make inquiries to Dean Hillis; Victor Adams, Occupational Division counselor; or Katherine Lutes, director of nursing education, before making application.

College placement and intelligence tests will be administered after the expiration of the application period. The placement tests will be given at 9 a.m. Feb. 23 in the TRCC auditorium. The tests will be followed by interviews conducted by the nursing selection committee. Applicants will be notified when to appear for the interview.

Those chosen for admittance to the class will be notified in April.

Because each class is limited to 20 by terms of the provisional accreditation given to Three Rivers Community College by the State Board of Nursing, it is necessary to screen all applicants carefully to select those with the highest qualifications and greatest motivation to complete the course, Hillis said.

The college will graduate its second nursing program class this spring. Graduates will receive an associate in applied science degree and will be eligible to take the National Test Pool Examination administered by the State Board of Nursing. On successful completion of the test, the graduate becomes a registered nurse in the state of Missouri.

Flu keeps Bluff students home

POPLAR BLUFF — About 20 per cent of the students in the Poplar Bluff public school system were absent Monday because of flu, Asst. Supt. Vencil Wilson said.

About 1,050 of the city's 5,850 students were absent, he said.

"We have discussed the possibility of closing the schools for a few days, but that doesn't seem advisable at this time. The school board is leaving that decision in the hands of Supt. Fred Morrow," Wilson said.

School officials began noticing the large absentee rate a week ago when 701 students stayed home with the flu, he said.

"At first the absenteeism seemed to be more acute in the junior high school. But now it seems to be concentrated in the high school and elementary grades. Many students who originally were out are now back in school, so the disease is making the round of students."

The illness is characterized by a sore throat and a high fever that lasts up to three days, Wilson said.

"The thing that's so peculiar," he said, "is that we are the only school system in this area that seems to be in trouble."

Sam Harbin, superintendent of Sikeston schools, said attendance there is normal, "but we understand that some schools in Southwest Missouri have been hit with it, and one school already has closed.

"We're afraid that it may be heading our way, but so far Poplar Bluff is the only city that is having real trouble."

A spokesman for one of Poplar Bluff's four hospitals said the flu outbreak "seems to be confined to the young people right now. I wouldn't say we are having any abnormal outbreak among older people."

Earth, like the planet Jupiter, sporadically emits low-frequency radio signals, which still mystify scientists.

Burglaries, vandalism reported in Charleston

CHARLESTON — Charleston police are investigating a series of burglary and vandalism incidents which occurred Tuesday.

A tool box valued at $300 and a spare tire valued at $40 were reported stolen from a pickup truck owned by L. M. Robbins, 301 N. Heggie St. The theft occurred sometime Tuesday night and was reported by Robbins at 6:30 a.m. today.

Judy Howard, 308 N. Elm St., reported to police at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday that someone had entered her home by breaking a glass in the back door. A psychedelic lamp was the only item reported missing.

Between 5:30 and 8:35 p.m. Tuesday, a brick was thrown through the windshield of a truck owned by William Gage, 500 S. Virginia St., while it was parked in front of his house.

Mrs. Trine Sims of Charleston reported two rings valued at $185 were taken from the restroom at Charleston Building Supply on East Marshall Street. Mrs. Sims, who is employed at the store, reportedly left the rings in the restroom and discovered they were missing two hours later.

Cotton meeting scheduled

BLOOMFIELD— A cotton meeting will be held for the benefit of Stoddard County cotton producers at 1:30 p.m. Friday in the Richland High School cafeteria near Essex, according to Tom Brown, area agronomy specialist for the county University of Missouri Extension Center.

The program will include: "Cotton Fertilization", presented by Brown; "Cotton Varieties and Chemical Weed Control", by Joe Scott, state agronomy specialist, Portageville; "Disease Control in Cotton", by Dr. Charles Baldwin, plant pathologist, Delta Center; "Cotton Insect Control", by Flernoy Jones, area entomology specialist, Delta Center; and "Findings From the Special Cost- Cutting Cotton Program", by Richard McIntosh, area farm management specialist, Benton.

Arson suspected in IGA fire

DEXTER — State Fire Marshal Robert Morrison arrived here Monday to investigate the possibility of arson in a fire Sunday night at the Dexter IGA Foodliner on North Walnut Street.

Firemen were called to the scene at about 8 p.m. when a store employe noticed smoke coming from a small shed attached to the southeast corner of the building.

Prompt action by firemen kept the blaze from spreading, but it is estimated that smoke caused approximately $3,000 worth of damage to merchandise inside.

Dexter Fire Chief Al Banken was quoted Monday as saying, "IGA has reason to suspect that it was arson."

The shed where the fire started contained empty cardboard boxes, according to store manager Wayne Evans.

FUEL-SHORT SAIGON is luckier than Western cities in having another transportation energy source — leg power. Pedicabs and bicycles take over the street scene after the South Vietnamese government cut off sale of gasoline on the civilian market.

Eagleton labels propane regulations as 'feeble'

WASHINGTON — Dismissing the administration's new propane price regulations as "a feeble and next to meaningless gesture," Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Mo.) said he would push for prompt enactment of legislation to roll back propane prices to last winter's levels.

Eagleton said he has discussed with Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., the possibility of adding a rollback measure to the emergency energy bill now before a House and Senate conference and was assured an effort would be made.

Eagleton is co-sponsor of a general petroleum price rollback bill introduced by Jackson last week.

"If, for any reason that move fails," Eagleton said, "I would favor bringing the measure up as an amendment to the next appropriate bill which comes before the Senate."

Eagleton said that the new regulations put out by the Federal Energy Administration might restrain future propane price increases but would do nothing about past increases which he said have been as high as 300 per cent in one year.

"The tragic thing is that propane is most heavily used by rural and low income families and they are the very people who can least afford a doubling or tripling of price," Eagleton said, noting that Missouri was the second largest user of propane in the nation.

In a letter to Federal Energy Administrator William Simon last week, Eagleton disputed arguments that higher propane prices would stimulate greater production or lead to lower consumption.

Higher prices will not lead to increased production because propane is principally a byproduct of natural gas, which remains under tight price controls. Trying to induce greater propane production through price under those circumstances is like trying to wag the dog with his tail.

Nor will higher prices lead to decreased demand for propane except at horrendous cost in human suffering. Propane is heavily used in rural and low income areas where it is the basic fuel for home heating and cooking. These are things people can't do without.

The only thing these price increases will do is to make rich men out of a few producers and a few brokers who bought up substantial amounts of propane at cheap prices and are now unloading it at whatever the market will bear.

Eagleton said that in view of the record profits and stock dividends being announced by major oil companies, he thought there would be strong support in Congress for a price rollback.

Representatives say most persons in jail are innocent

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Most persons in Missouri jails are legally innocent, representatives of the Missouri Association of Social Welfare said Tuesday as they supported a minimum standard for the jails.

The reason innocent persons are in jail is that they must await trials, an association report said, and it concluded such prisoners mostly should not be in jail. The report said such persons are most often first offenders being held on minor counts and are not threats to society.

The proposed jail standards bill, which passed the House and then died in the Senate last year, would allow the state Department of Corrections to set minimum standards.

Biannual inspections would be allowed and jails not complying with law could be closed. Agreements between counties would be allowed under the law to share facilities and combine them.

Ann Smith, chairman of the jail bill's proponents, said the bill should pass this year because sheriffs want jail improvements and desire to cooperate. She estimated the cost of running the program at $70,000 per year.

Harry Wiggins, of the association, said one problem is overcoming inertia of the status quo feelings about county jails. Gov. Christopher S. Bond has not pushed for the bill, but proponents said they feel they have his support.

Wiggins said about $3.5 million in federal funds is available to help corrections programs.

"This shouldn't cost many areas much money," to live with, he said.

One focus for rural jails the proponents noted was rehabilitation by allowing persons convicted of minor crimes to leave jail during the day, and work at their original jobs.

The report criticized detention of juveniles with adults when minor crimes caused arrests. Missouri law says juveniles must be detained in places which approximate the care of good homes.

Mrs. Carter said many jails are in violation of ths law. Many jails also do not segregate women from men as required by law.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Farm commodity futures prices were uneven in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, wheat was 2 cents a bushel lower to 1 higher, March 5.60; corn was ½ to 1½ lower, March 2.97½; oats were unchanged to ½ higher, March 1.68½ and soybeans were 3 lower to 1 higher, March 6.34.

Election deadline in Miner

The Miner board of trustees Tuesday night set March 8 as the filing deadline for candidates to enter their name on the April 2 general election ballot. Two positions on the board are to be filled for two-year terms.

City Marshal Andy Freeman informed the board that Glenn "Skip" Alsup has completed the required 90-day probationary period to become a part-time deputy marshal. The board then voted to place Alsup on the city's payroll.

The board voted to sell an old walkie- talkie unit and to purchase two new units. Two bids have been received, but a third bid is required before a decision can be made. The city will pay 25 per cent of the cost, and the remainder will be paid by the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistant Council.

The board decided to purchase two riot guns and one mount for the police car. Mayor L. F. Wheeler was instructed to consult the Bootheel Law Enforcement Assistance Council to determine if assistance is available.

Seven dogs were caught running loose during January, and it was announced at the board meeting that owners of dogs claimed at the pound will be subject to a fine. Wheeler said the first time a dog is chased home, a warning ticket will be given the owner. The second time, a summons will be issued to the owner.

Wheeler was authorized to contact Dr. Sam Hunter of New Madrid, a veterinarian, about his availability for a vaccination clinic in Miner.

Two representatives from Drury Bros. Inc. of Cape Girardeau — Bob Drury of Cape Girardeau and Joe Gilmore of Nashville, Tenn. — asked the board if enough water will be available to supply Ramada Inn and Drury Inn this summer when usage rates will be high. The board gave assurance that an adequate water supply will be available.

The board asked the town marshals to attend a police training school scheduled Feb. 13-14 in Sikeston.

In other business, the board voted to purchase 200 building permits and 500 water books and tabled a decision on whether to enlarge the water pump.

The town planning and zoning board will hold a public meeting Feb. 26 to answer questions on sewage, water and other matters of town interest.

An open house for the new addition to the town hall will be held in conjunction with the meeting.

The trucks, which had blocked his pumps since Saturday night, began leaving this morning, and Cross thinks the remainder of the trucks parked there will leave today.

Only one truck is parked at another Cross Truck Stop Inc. at the interchange of Highway 61 and Interstate 55 near New Madrid, according to owner Rusty Cross.

Cross said he is not selling diesel fuel. However, he said no trucks have stopped for fuel in the past two days.

Scotty's S & C Truck on Highway 80 at the Interstate 55 interchange near Matthews, remained closed today with four trucks blocking the pumps.

A court order was issued Tuesday against blockades at Rhodes City Truck Plaza south of Cape Girardeau. The highway patrol said truckers were still parked at the truck stop today, but everything appeared quiet.

While no violence has been reported in Cape Girardeau, other reports are still coming from throughout Missouri.

Two men were being held at the Cape Girardeau County jail Tuesday following a shooting incident Monday involving a truck on Interstate 55 near Fruitland. Thomas H. Mince, 31, of Matthews is being held on a charge of driving while intoxicated, operating a motor vehicle without a license, felonious assault and possession of a firearm while intoxicated.

Also being held is Eddie L. Polk, 23, of Matthews, on a charge of felonious assault and possession of a firearm while intoxicated.

According to Cape County officials the driver of the tractor- trailer rig, Dale W. Shuffit, 22, of Morley, said he was heading south on Interstate 55 about 5:30 p.m. Monday when two men in a green car passed him, slowed down, and he, in turn overtook them. As he did two rear tires were shot out and Shuffit pulled over on the shoulder.

The two assailants were stopped by officers of the Cape County sheriff's department about 6:30 on Nash Road near Rhodes City Truck Plaza. Sheriff's deputies found a .22- caliber rifle and numerous bullets in the car

Another result of the truckers' strike, now in its seventh day, has been the layoff of hundreds of employes by area industries.

About 200 persons have been laid off at the Emerson Electric factory in Kennett and, unless the situation changes soon, more of the plant's 1,200 employes could be laid off, according to manager Leonard Stack.

In Campbell, John's Produce closed Monday night when the firm's truckers declined to deliver four truckloads of dressed poultry. The poultry operation employs 90 persons.

Almost half of the 140 employes at BeeCee Manufacturing Co. at Malden have been laid off and a total shutdown is expected unless the situation breaks within the next two days, according to manager Jack Douglas.

What's the law?

The case of the matrimonial kennel

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Charley was leading a dog's life, he insisted, and it was all his wife's fault. At any given time, there were as many as 75 growlers and barkers roaming through his home as though they owned it.

And, they belonged to his wife who loved and adored them all. What's more, on the occasions when he complained about the situation, Charley was the one who usually ended up in the dog house.

When he finally left home and sued for a divorce, Charley's incensed wife charged him with abandonment and demanded support.

"I had to leave," argued Charley in court. "I wasn't living in a home, I was living in a kennel. The place was full of horrible odors and there were dog hairs all over the joint. What's more I constantly had to watch my step ... and not just because of my wife."

"Just because I liked dogs," retorted Charley's wife, "was no reason for him to leave me. Particularly, since the dogs liked him as much as I did."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant Charley a divorce from his matrimonial kennel?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held in effect, that Charley's wife had overdone the bit about a dog being man's best friend.

By harboring so many dogs in their home, he noted, and by permitting them to roam about at will leaving behind odors, hairs and excretions, she had created a health hazard and nuisance that Charley was not required to live with.

Under the circumstances, concluded the judge, Charley's leaving could hardly be deemed unjustified.

'Funny Car Summer' explores drag racing

"Funny Car Summer", the motion picture that spins through the world of drag racing, opens Friday at Malone Theatre, 107 W. Malone Ave.

The full- length, color feature puts its audience at the wheel of the Dunn and Reath rear engine funny car as it rides the line between victory and disaster.

Behind the scenes and on the track, the camera explores the world's fastest sport with a depth never before brought to the screen.

Action views never seen from the stands, on- the-spot tension in the pits and a glimpse of the efforts and experiments between races will absorb knowledgable racing fans.

But it is the human side of drag racing, the life of fireman and part- time racer Jim Dunn, the involvement in his sport of his wife and children and a look at the warmth, humor and sacrifices of these people that make "Funny Car Summer" a sure- fire way to bring the whole family together for a delightful, exciting evening.

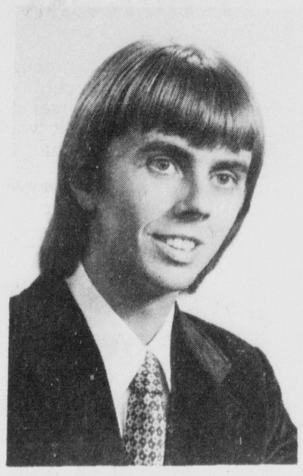
Pattern fitting expert will conduct 2 classes



Alexander Johnston

Nationally recognized pattern - fitting and design expert Alexander Johnston of New Orleans will conduct two classes next Tuesday at Holiday Inn, Highway 61 South, for area women who desire garments made at home to appear professionally created.

Many women believe the reason a garment made at home is not always perfection is a lack of sewing skills or body measurements which are ill proportioned.

Not so, Johnston said in a recent interview. He believes the fault is with the patterns which fit no one. He added, "No two patterns are ever cut alike, and to make matters worse, no two women are built exactly alike. A sewer often finds herself in a situation where a size 12 is too small and a size 14 is too large; she is caught somewhere in the puzzling middle."

He feels sewing can be made more efficient and accurate, regardless of which patterns ladies choose. Some things he teaches are: how to sew in sleeves perfectly, first time, every time; how to handle mismatched pattern pieces with ease, including how to make all facings match; and how to sew on collars in minutes; and others.

In each class, Johnston will demonstrate how to alter an existing pattern to fit individual needs, how to make a pattern from scratch after looking at a picture and basic fundamentals of dress designing.

Johnston said any women can learn to design her own clothing once she realizes that designers create from certain basic styles and methods. He says that most sewers feel these methods to be out of their reach.

"Women can be taught to do almost anything in this field if they know where the problem lies," he added.

Identical classes will be conducted by Johnson each day at 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. A small fee will be charged. Persons participating will receive a basic dress pattern to fit individual measurements and a manual on basic dress designing.

Featured speaker will be Dr. John Cullum of Marshall, Tex. Dr. Cullum has been associated with the Parker Chiropractic Research Foundation of Fort Worth, Tex., for 15 years.

Included on the program will be representatives of the Medicare insurance carrier for this area. Medicare was extended to cover the services of doctors of chiropractic last July.

Officers present for the board meeting were Dr. Edward Meisner of Perryville, Dr. Robert Bennett of Sikeston, Dr. William M. Catt of New Madrid and Dr. Salzmann, who is chairman of the educational seminar

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Blanton,

Several months ago I wrote a letter to your paper concerning the former "dog catcher." Since I heard so many comments about that letter, I thought it only fitting that I express my opinion of our present humane officer. I am so pleased with the job Mr. Beardsley is doing. This man not only does his job, but much more. I think we are very fortunate indeed to have Mr. Beardsley working for our city.

I have been to see the new pound facilities and they are vastly inproved. I would also like to commend the Standard on the wonderful support that you have given in the "adoption" project.

What was once a deplorable situation has now been changed into something of which we can all be proud.

Thank you Mr. Beardsley.
Sincerely,
Kay Piel

Report shows food stamp cut

CHICAGO — Preliminary reports indicate that monthly food stamp benefits were reduced or terminated for 2,045 Missouri households during fiscal year 1973 as a result of work registration and employment requirements of the Federal Food Stamp Program.

According to Dennis M. Doyle, regional administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service in Chicago, this resulted in savings of nearly $87,000.

Under a 1971 amendment of the Food Stamp Act of 1964, all able-bodied members of a participating household aged 18-65 (with certain exceptions) must register for and accept suitable employment.

Acceptance of employment resulted in reduced benefits for 1,690 households and termination of benefits for 114 households for savings of more than $71,000. Failure to comply with the work registration requirement resulted in the removal of 241 households from rolls for savings of nearly $15,300.

Savings reflect the value of bonus coupons which would have been issued to Food Stamp Program participants had their benefits not been reduced or terminated. The bonus value of coupons represents USDA's contribution to the program.

The waitresses at the beanery never heard of instant coffee.

Computer allows instant transmission

ST. LOUIS -- The St. Louis office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. has completed installation of a newly designed computer system that will instantly transmit current information on St. Louis area businesses to the D&B national computer center in New Jersey, according to Raymond C. Adams, regional vice president.

St. Louis is the 51st D&B office to implement the new system. When similar installations have become operational at nearly 80 of the company's key locations throughout the country, the local office will have direct, electronic access to detailed information on any of the nearly three million U. S. commercial and industrial businesses covered by D&B reports.

The Dun & Bradstreet office at St. Louis provides credit and marketing information on approximately 60,400 businesses in 67 counties in Missouri and Illinois.

As part of the new system, D&B offices throughout the country are being equipped with highly advanced electronic hardware.

These units consist of cathode ray tubes (like TV screens) linked to especially - developed keyboards. As the report information is entered through the keyboard, it appears visually on the screen for proofing.

The completed report appearing on the viewing screen is automatically transmitted to a "mini- computer" in the St. Louis office, where it is stored for later transmittal to Dun & Bradstreet's national computer center in Berkeley Heights, N. J. A copy of the report and duplicating master are printed by the local computer at a rate of 250 lines per minute.

"This remarkable new system assures us of greater speed and efficiency in serving local businesses, whether they be large or small," Adams said. He also pointed out that computer print- outs of the reports will be available to all businesses upon which they are written so that they can be reviewed for accuracy and completeness.

Adams emphasized that the system will be used exclusively for the long- established exchange of information among businesses -- necessary for commercial credit, insurance, sales and marketing decisions. D&B does not provide consumer credit information.

He explained that when the system is fully operational, in 1955, the local CRT units will not only be able to transmit information, but will also be able to tap the central computers for quick access to information on almost any commercial or industrial business in the country. Similarly, information on businesses in the St. Louis area will become available to subscribers throughout the U. S. by simply punching a few keys on any D&B office CRT.

At that time, the new system will have significantly reduced the company's reliance on mail and teletype for transmission of business information from one city to another.

"The faster we can transmit current information, the better it will be for the local business community," Adams said.

He explained that the quick delivery of necessary information can speed decisions of out- of- town manufacturers and wholesalers -- as well as those locally -- on extending credit and shipping goods, thus contributing to the speedier flow of merchandise between communities.

Demonstrating new unit

Employes of the St. Louis office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. demonstrate use of new cathode ray tube unit and computer system. The newly designed system will instantly transmit current information on St. Louis area businesses to the D&B national computer center in New Jersey.

Lee's manager named

Mrs. Jeanne Mungle, 22, of 117 Tracy, Jackson, was named manager of Lee's Shoe Store at Kingsway Plaza Mall in late January. Mrs. Mungle is married to Charles Mungle Jr. and had worked for Lee's for two years (1971- 72) as assistant manager before returning in that position in November 1973.

FHA makes one percent repair loans

The Farmers Home Administration office in Sikeston, 106 E. Center St., which serves Scott and Mississippi counties, reminds residents of this area that it is making rural housing loans for home repairs to assist rural families (in rural areas or cities of less than 10,000 population) to make necessary improvements on their homes.

To be eligible for a home repair loan, the person must be the owner- occupant of the home. An existing mortgage on the home does not necessarily disqualify the applicant for the loan in most cases, depending on the amount owed.

Farmers Home Administration can loan up to $3,500 for this type of loan. The loan bears one per cent interest and may be repaid over a 10- year period. The actual amount loaned will depend on the value of the property and the amount owed on the mortgage.

The loan provides for such improvements as a new roof, new storm windows and doors, siding, painting, plumbing facilities, repair of floors, porches, supporting beams and foundation walls, as well as disposal systems and a sanitary water supply.

For further information, contact Bobby R. Hicks, county supervisor, or Charles G. Lindley, assistant county supervisor, at the Farmers Home Administration office, located upstairs over Harris Drug Store. Office hours are from 8 a.m. until noon on Monday mornings. The telephone number is 471-1014.

COOKING-UP

EAST PRAIRIE — Casseroles or one- dish meals, especially convenient for working homemakers who are thrifty and like to serve their families a variety of menus, are featured in this week's Cooking- Up column.

Included are recipes for left- over ham and turkey, a quick and easy recipe for spaghetti and a couple of recipes that prove there are more in cans of tuna and salmon than just salads or sandwiches.

SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

Try this recipe for a solution to your left- over roast beef and potatoes. When completed, there's no hint of a "left-over".

BEST OVEN HASH

1½ cups coarsely ground cooked beef
1 cup coarsely ground cooked potators
½ cup coarsely ground onion
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 tsp. salt
dash pepper
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
6-ounce can (2/3 cup) evaporated milk
1/3 cup slightly crushed corn flakes
1 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted.

Lightly mix beef, potatoes, onion, parsley, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and milk. Turn into greased one- quart casserole.

Mix corn flakes and butter; sprinkle over top.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes or until heated through. Makes four servings.

An excellent way to use left- over ham and potatoes and still offer a hot and hearty meal is this quick and simple recipe which will serve four.

SKILLET HAM SALAD

¼ cup chopped green onions
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 cups diced cooked ham
1 tbsp. fat
3 or 4 medium potatoes, cooked, diced (3 cups)
¼ tsp. salt
dash pepper
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ pound sharp process American cheese, diced (1½ cups)

Cook onions, green pepper and meat in hot fat, stirring occasionally, till meat is lightly browned. Add potatoes, salt, pepper and mayonnaise. Heat, mixing lightly. Stir in cheese; heat just till it begins to melt. Garnish with green onions, if desired.

JIFFY TUNA SKILLET

1 medium onion, sliced
1 tbsp. butter of margarine
1 can frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
½ cup milk
1 cup frozen peas
7 to 9- ounce can tuna, broken in chunks
dash pepper
chow mein noodles or hot rice

Cook onion slices in butter till almost tender. Add soup, milk and peas; cover and heat just to boiling, stirring occasionally. Add tuna and pepper. Heat through but do not allow mixture to boil.

Serve over crisp, oven-warmed chow main noodles or hot rice.

Makes four servings.

GOURMET MACARONI AND CHEESE

3½ cups cooked elbow macaroni (cook about 1¾ cups)
4-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
¼ cup finely cut pimiento
1¼ cups cubed process American cheese
¾ cup evaporated milk
3 tbsp. cut-up onion
2 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ tsp. pepper
4 slices processed American cheese
4 thick tomato slices (if desired)

Mix macaroni, mushrooms and pimiento in a greased 1½-quart casserole.

Stir cheese, milk, onion, mustard, salt, Worcestershire sauce and pepper over low heat until cheese melts. Stir into macaroni.

Top with cheese and tomato slices.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until bubbly hot. Makes six servings.

TUNA CASHEW CASSEROLE

(easy to do and is particularly nice for lunch.)

3-ounce can chow mein noodles
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
6½ to 9¼- ounce can white tuna, drained and flaked
¼ pound chopped cashew nuts, salted or unsalted
1 cup diced celery
¼ cup cut-up onion
¼ cup water
½ tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper

Save ½ cup noodles to sprinkle over top. Mix rest of ingredients and pour into greased one- quart casserole. Sprinkle reserved noodles over top and bake at 325 degrees for 40 minutes. Makes six servings.

READY SPAGHETTI

(mix this well ahead of time, if you like)

½ pound spaghetti
6 tbsp. butter
½ pound mushrooms
1 large onion, chopped
1 large green pepper, chopped
1 pound ground round steak
2 tsp. salt
pepper to taste
12 oz. can tomatoes
8 oz. can tomato sauce
¼ pound (1 cup) grated cheddar cheese

Cook spaghetti as package directs. Drain.

Melt butter in large skillet. Saute mushrooms about 3 minutes. Remove to two- quart casserole.

In same skillet brown onion, pepper and meat. Mix in salt, pepper, tomatoes, tomato sauce and spaghetti.

Pour into casserole, stirring to mix in mushrooms. Sprinkle cheese over top and bake a 350 degrees for one hour. Makes four to six servings.

SALMON CASSEROLE

3 tbsp. butter
6 tbsp chopped onion
¼ cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced mushrooms
3 tbsp. flour
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 cup milk (homogenized)
1 cup cream
1-lb. can salmon flaked and boned
2 cups frozen or fresh green peas
2 cups crushed potato chips

Saute onion, celery, green pepper and mushrooms in butter until lightly browned. Add flour, salt and pepper and gradually stir in milk and cream and cook until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly.

Arrange layers of salmon, peas, cream sauce and crushed potato chips in a buttered two-quart casserole. Dot with butter.

Cover and bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Uncover and bake 10 minutes or until brown.

Good eating after hearty winter sports

BAKED BEAN CASSEROLE—Guaranteed to satisfy hungry eaters after winter sports.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When young people invite a group of friends for supper after skiing or skating, what to feed them? One suggestion: a casserole concocted from two cans of pork and beans makes a feast! This casserole has captivating seasoning and the sweetness that's popular in such a dish. A tossed green salad or cold slaw with a tangy dressing goes well with it and dessert can be fruit and cookies. To enlarge the menu, serve fish chowder with crusty bread as a first course.

BAKED BEAN CASSEROLE

Two 28-ounce cans pork and beans in tomato sauce
½ pound bacon, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 medium onions, coarsely chopped
2 green peppers, seeded and coarsely chopped
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 cup catchup
1 cup dark corn syrup

In a 3-quart casserole stir together all the ingredients. Bake uncovered in a preheated 325-degree oven, stirring occasionally, for 3½ hours. Makes 16 servings.

ONION BULGUR

Upon cooking, bulgur doubles its initial dry volume.

1 envelope onion soup mix
2¼ cups water
1 cup bulgur (cracked wheat)

In a medium saucepan bring the onion soup mix (as is) and the water to a boil; stir in the bulgur; cover and simmer until bulgur is tender and liquid has evaporated — 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Reasons I am given when I ask the question — "Why must you crawl into bed at night with dad and me?"

"I love you."

"Your bed feels just right."

"I'm so nervous I can't sleep by myself."

"I thought you might need company!"

When I ask — "And why aren't you eating everything on your plate?"

"You know it was last week I liked green beans, this week I only like brocelli."

"I had ten more peas on my plate than Lee did so I don't have to eat these last ten."

"I don't believe I'm hungry anymore — what's for dessert?"

"I'd really rather just have a hamburger and not grow up to be big and strong."

"I'll bet the poor starving children in Europe would just keep on starving before they'd eat brussel sprouts!"

Or — "Why aren't you taking a shower tonight?"

"I'm white enough!"

"Do you want me to dry up and shrivel away from all that water and washing?"

"I had a bath once this week."

"I smelled — and I don't!"

"You only wash the dog once a month, so how come she gets treated better than your own kid?"

And — "How was the party?"

"I forgot already."

"Terrible, nobody got into any fights."

"All I remember is somebody got sick and threw up on the birthday cake."

But — one of these days I'm going to learn and I'll just quit asking!!
